The Armenian Experience-Gaïdz Minassian 2020-05-14 Armenian national identity has long been associated with what has come to be known as the Armenian Genocide of 1915. Immersing the reader in the history, culture and politics of Armenia - from its foundations as the ancient kingdom of Urartu to the modern-day Republic - Gaïdz Minassian moves past the massacres embedded in the Armenian psyche to position the nation within contemporary global politics. An in-depth study of history and memory, The Armenian Experience examines the characteristics and sentiments of a national identity that spans the globe. Armenia lies in the heart of the Caucasus and once had an empire - under the rule of Tigranes the Great in the first century BC - that stretched from the Caspian to the Mediterranean seas. Beginning with an overview of Armenia's historic position at the crossroads between Rome and Persia, Minassian details invasions from antiquity to modern times by Arabs, Mongols, Ottomans, Persians and Russians right up to its Soviet experience, and drawing on Armenia's post-Soviet conflict with Azerbaijan in its attempts to reunify with the disputed territory of Nagorno-Karabakh. This book questions an Armenian self-identity dominated by its past and instead looks towards the future. Gaïdz Minassian emphasises the need to recognise that the Armenian story began well before the Genocide 1915, and continues as an on-going modern narrative.

Feminism, Capitalism, and Critique-Banu Bargu 2017-07-24 This edited collection examines the relationship between three central terms—capitalism, feminism, and critique—while critically celebrating the work and life of a thinker who has done the most to address this nexus: Nancy Fraser. In honor of her seventieth birthday, and in the spirit of her work in the tradition of critical theory, this collection brings together scholars from different disciplines and theoretical approaches to address this conjunction and evaluate Fraser's lifelong contributions to theorizing it. Scholars from philosophy, political science, sociology, gender studies, race theory and economics come together to think through the vicissitudes of capitalism and feminism while also responding to different elements of Nancy Fraser's work, which weaves together a strong feminist standpoint with a vibrant and complex critique of capitalism. Going beyond conventional disciplinary distinctions and narrow debates, all the contributors to this project share a commitment to critically understanding the connection between capitalism, exploitation, and the viable roads for emancipation. They recover insights provided by classical traditions of political and social thought, but they also open new research directions adapted to the global challenges of our time.

The Arab Democratic Wave-Alvaro Vasconcelos 2011 This multi-author report, edited by Álvaro de Vasconcelos, was conceived as a response to the recent uprisings in Tunisia and in Egypt and the "democratic wave" that has struck the Arab world. Clearly, these democratic uprisings call for a radical shift in the way in which Euro-

Mediterranean relations are formulated and conducted. The report seeks to examine the significance of these events in this context. The first part of the report focuses on individual countries in the region, in the following sequence: Morocco, Algeria, Tunisia, Libya, Egypt, Palestine, Jordan, Lebanon, and Syria. The second part of the report consists of three chapters addressing the question of human rights and the rule of law in the region, the social and economic aspects of the democratic transition process, and the European Neighbourhood Policy.

Reconnaissance et temporalités-Jean-Claude Domenget 2015-07-01 Aujourd'hui, nous sommes face à une quête de reconnaissance généralisée. Chaque individu, chaque collectif souhaite voir reconnaître ce qu'il est, ce qu'il fait. Objets de luttes, ce désir d'estime sociale intègre des éléments du passé et de l'avenir. Comment analyser ces demandes de reconnaissance sans être prisonnier d'une vision à court terme, d'un présentisme? L'originalité de cet ouvrage est de proposer une approche info-communicationnelle des relations entre reconnaissance et temporalités.

Les enjeux de la reconnaissance des minorités-Abdelkader Belbahri 2008-03-01 Le film Indigènes de Rachid Bouchareb a permis le réexamen du montant des pensions accordées aux anciens combattants tirailleurs. Faut-il y lire un événement aussi extraordinaire qu'exceptionnel ou bien voir là une manifestation parmi d'autres d'une reconsidération de la place faite à des populations stigmatisées, dominées et pourtant parties prenantes de notre société ?
