Le blocus de Djibouti-Lukian Prijac 2015-10-01 Le blocus de la colonie française de la Côte Française des Somalis et plus particulièrement de son port, Djibouti, entre 1940 et 1942, est l'histoire d'une guerre fratricide entre Français libres et Français de Vichy. Cet ouvrage, divisé en deux parties - "La période italienne (1935-1940)" et "La période anglaise (1940-1943)" - explique comment cette "fracture française" s'est déroulée dans ce coin d'Afrique, qui fut à la fois terre de naissance de la France Libre et laboratoire politique de la "Révolution nationale" instaurée par le régime de Vichy.

Le maître de la lumière-Maurice Renard 2020-10-06 Maurice Renard (1875-1939) "Cette histoire extraordinaire commence très ordinairement. À la fin du mois de septembre 1929, le jeune historien Charles Christiani résolut d’aller passer quelques jours à La Rochelle. Spécialisé dans l’étude de la Restauration et du règne de Louis-Philippe, il avait déjà publié, à cette époque, un petit livre très remarqué sur Les Quatre Sergents de La Rochelle ; il en préparait un autre sur le même sujet et estimait nécessaire de retourner sur place, pour y consulter certains documents. Il nous a paru sans intérêt de rechercher pourquoi la famille Christiani était déjà rentrée à Paris, rue de Tournon, à une époque de l’année où les heureux de ce monde sont encore aux bains de mer, en voyage, à la campagne. L’automne se montrait morose, et ce fut, croyons-nous, la seule raison de ce retour un peu prématuré. Car Mme Christiani, sa fille et son fils ne manquaient pas des moyens de mener l’existence la plus large, et disposaient des gîtes champêtres où l’on goûte un repos plus ou moins mouvementé. Deux belles propriétés familiales, en effet, s’offraient à leur choix : le vieux château de Silaz en Savoie, qu’ils délaissaient complètement, et une agréable maison de campagne située près de Meaux ; c’est là qu’ils avaient passé tout l’été. Au moment où nous sommes, le noble et spacieux appartement de la rue de Tournon abritait, en les Christiani, trois êtres parfaitement unis : Mme Louise Christiani, née Bernardi, cinquante ans, veuve d’Adrien Christiani, mort pour la France en 1915 ; son fils Charles, vingt-six ans ; Colomba, sa fille, moins de vingt ans, charmante, à qui nous devons l’adjonction d’un quatrième personnage : Bertrand Valois, le benjamin de nos auteurs dramatiques, le plus heureux fiancé sur le globe terrestre." Charles Christiani fait la connaissance, par hasard, de Rita et tombe amoureux. Mais il déchanté lorsqu'il apprend que Rita s'appelle Ortofieri... Les Christiani et les Ortofieri sont deux familles corses se vouant une haine : César Christiani a été assassiné par Fabius Ortofieri, un siècle plutôt. Mais il n'y avait aucune preuve de sa culpabilité... Charles fait une étrange découverte qui pourrait bien apporter la vérité...

Complex Lexical Units-Barbara Schlücker 2019-01-14 Both compounds and multi-word expressions are complex lexical units, made up of at least two constituents. The most basic difference is that the former are morphological objects and the latter result from syntactic processes. However, the exact demarcation between compounds and multi-word expressions differs greatly from language to language and is often a matter of debate in and across languages. Similarly debated is whether and how these two different kinds of units complement or compete with each other. The volume presents an overview of compounds and multi-word expressions in a variety of European languages. Central questions that are discussed for each language concern the formal distinction between compounds and multi-word expressions, their formation and their status in lexicon and grammar. The volume contains chapters on German, English, Dutch, French, Italian, Spanish, Greek, Russian, Polish, Finnish, and Hungarian as well as a contrastive overview with a focus on German. It brings together insights from word-formation theory, phraseology and theory of grammar and aims to contribute to the understanding of the lexicon, both from a language-specific and cross-linguistic perspective.

Organized Crime-Klaus von Lampe 2015-07-16 Organized Crime: Analyzing Illegal Activities, Criminal Structures, and Extra-legal Governance provides a systematic overview of the processes and structures commonly labeled “organized crime,” drawing on the pertinent empirical and theoretical literature primarily from North America, Europe, and Australia. The main emphasis is placed on a comprehensive classificatory scheme that highlights underlying patterns and dynamics, rather than particular historical manifestations of organized crime. Esteemed author Klaus von Lampe strategically breaks the book down into three key dimensions: (1) illegal activities, (2) patterns of interpersonal relations that are directly or indirectly supporting these illegal activities, and (3) overarching illegal power structures that regulate and control these illegal activities and also extend their influence into the legal spheres of society. Within this framework, numerous case studies and topical issues from a variety of countries illustrate meaningful application of the conceptual and theoretical discussion. Dada and Existentialism-Elizabeth Benjamin 2016-08-30 Offering new critical approaches to Dada as quintessential part of the Avant-Garde, Dada and Existentialism: the Authenticity of Ambiguity reassesses the movement as a form of (proto-) Existentialist philosophy. Dada is often dismissed as an anti-art movement with a merely destructive theoretical impetus. French Existentialism is often condemned for its perceived quietist implications. However, closer analysis reveals a preoccupation with philosophy in the former and with art in the latter. Moreover, neither was nonsensical or meaningless; both reveal a rich individualist ethics aimed at the amelioration of the individual and society. The first major comparative study of Dada and Existentialism, this text contributes new perspectives on Dada as movement, historical legacy, and field of study. Analysing Dada works through Existentialist literature across the themes of choice, alienation, responsibility, freedom and truth, the text posits that Dada and Existentialism both advocate the creation of a self that aims for authenticity through ambiguity.

Adjective Adverb Interfaces in Romance-Martin Hummel 2017-12-15 Within the current discussion on grammatical interfaces, the word-classes of adjective and adverb are of particular interest because they appear to be separated or joined in manifold ways at the level of word-class or syntax, with morphology playing a prominent role, especially in Romance. The volume provides typological and theoretical insights into the common or different usage of adjectives and adverbs in Romance. Diachronic change is discussed alongside with synchronic variation and the representation in grammar. The discussion turns out to be controversial, calling into question traditional assumptions such as the dogma of the invariability and the categorial status of the adverb.

The Black Sheep-Honoré de Balzac 2005-09-29 Philippe and Joseph Bridau are two extremely different brothers. The elder, Philippe, is a superficially heroic soldier and adored by their mother Agathe. He is nonetheless a bitter figure, secretly gambling away her savings after a brief but glorious career in Napoleon's army. His younger brother Joseph, meanwhile, is fundamentally virtuous - but their mother is blinded to his kindness by her disapproval of his life as an artist. Foolish and prejudiced, Agathe lives on unaware that she is being cynically manipulated by her own favourite child, but will she ever discover which of her sons is truly the black sheep of the family? A dazzling depiction of the power of money and the cruelty of life in nineteenth-century France, The Black Sheep compellingly explores is a compelling exploration of the nature of deceit.

City on the Ocean Sea-Kevin C. Robbins 1997 Robbins presents a comprehensive history of early modern La Rochelle, one of the largest and most fractious French Protestant towns. Grounded upon a mass of local serial sources unprecedented in scope, this study reassesses the Reformation’s urban impact in France, the comportment of French Protestants, the violent nature of French civic politics, and the capacity of the French crown to police effectively a rebel Atlantic port town.

After a sensational and celebrated trial, the convent's charismatic priest Urban Grandier—accused of spiritually and sexually seducing the nuns in his charge—was convicted of being in league with Satan. Then he was burned at the stake for witchcraft. A remarkable true story of religious and sexual obsession, The Devils of Loudon is considered by many to be Aldous Huxley's nonfiction masterpiece.
